Physicist killed in accident

LIVERMORE — A nuclear physicist at the Lawrence Livermore Lab was killed Tuesday after he apparently lost control of his motorcycle and skidded into the path of an oncoming car, police said yesterday.

Patrick Ralph O'Harrow, 35, of 358 Clarke Ave. in Livermore was pronounced dead on arrival at Valley Memorial Hospital about 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Police said O'Harrow was traveling westbound on East Ave. when traffic ahead of him began to slow down for a car attempting to turn left into the Biscayne Apartments. O'Harrow tried to slow down, witnesses told police, but lost control of his motorcycle and went into a broadside slide.

Lee Ann Mayr of 952 Saturn Way was traveling eastbound and saw the cycle lose control and begin to slide. She attempted to stop but went into a skid as the cycle crossed into her path, according to police.

The left front fender of Mary's station wagon struck O'Harrow in the head and broke his neck, killing him instantly, police said. He was wearing a helmet at the moment of impact, they added.

A native of Idaho and graduate of the University of Idaho, O'Harrow joined the Navy and assumed command of the USS Tacoma at an early age.

He rose to the rank of lieutenant commander and was assigned to the Lab as a military research associate in nuclear design. He had spent less than one year at the Lab under the three-year program.

O'Harrow leaves his wife, Rita, and their two children. Funeral services are under the arrangements of Associated Funeral Service in Oakland.

A "feast" at Donlon

The kindergarten students of Mrs. Kaiser and Mrs. Augusta at Donlon School in Pleasanton had a "Thanksgiving Feast" Wednesday that was not only a taste treat but a learning experience. Children helped stuff the turkey, baked the muffins and made the sliced apples which are being partaken of here. The feast, which also serves as an object lesson in good table manners for the children, has become a tradition at Donlon as Mesdames Augusta and Kaiser have observed Thanksgiving in this manner the past four years. Ten parents helped with serving and preparation.

Expenses half of revenues

'Non-cities' losing money

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — The unincorporated, "non-city" of Dublin and the unincorporated areas surrounding Pleasanton lose nearly a half-million dollars in "tax profit" each year to the county.

The $444,120 the area generates beyond costs of county provided municipal services represents "nearly twice as much revenue as is required to provide municipal-type services to this area."

That announcement, alonf with the fact that the county's three other urban, unincorporated areas are subsidized by nearly a million dollars per year, came to light in a memo submitted by county administrator Loren Enoch to board of supervisors chairman Fred Cooper.

Cooper is an old foe of unincorporated urban areas, claiming they cost the county more money than they generate. He has argued for incorporation or annexation of all the county's non-municipal areas.

With the glaring exception of Dublin-Pleasanton, his premises apparently have been born out.

Livermore, Castro Valley and the Eden - Washington Townships run up annual net defecits of $962,640 for munivipal services provided by county government.

The 1500 people in the unincorporated area surrounding Livermore cost the county $152,932 for police, animal control, building inspection, planning, street lighting and adminsistration.

They generate only $68,770 in sales and cigarette tax and liquor fees: 45 percent of their costs.

Dublin-Pleasanton, however, costs the county $527,538 for services, but generates $971,658 — 184 percent of costs — in taxes and fees.

Castro Valley costs the county a net $547,105 and the Eden - Washington Township $331,373.

The county provides 43 percent of Castro Valley's operating costs and 18 percent of the townships'.

The $331,373 used to underwrite the townships represents about one cent on the county wide tax bill, according to Enoch.

The Dublin - Pleasanton profit which now goes to the county's coffers "would accrue to the unincorporated area if it became incorporated," he adds.

"The cost and revenue estimates indicate that the county does, indeed, subsidize municipal - type services provided to the urbanized unincorporated areas. This situation provides no incentive for these areas to incorporate and assume the burden of costs which are now financed from County-wide resources," he concludes.

If the unincorporated Dublin-Pleasanton were to form or join cities, the county's annual costs for subsidizing the remaining three areas would jump from $518,520 to $962,000.

Thanks because 'you are you'

On this day of thanks giving we pause to reflect on the riches about us that are taken for granted.

Yet, as is so often the case, we overlook the simple joys that perhaps only a child or someone of mature years can fully appreciate.

Scott Engel, a second-grader in Nancy Herman's class at Alisal School in Pleasanton, printed the following thoughts that we share with you:

Dear God,

I am thankful for my safety, my Mother and Father and all my relatives,

My Grandma and Grandpa, and my birthday and holidays, also every special hour of my life counts.

And it don't matter where you are, what language you speak, or what time it is, but you have something to be thankful for, or if you don't, just think up to heaven that when you die you will be happy and think that you had your special, personal life of happiness, specialness or sorrow and hate.

But it matters to me that you are you, and every body in the world is them, and here is the sentence I want to say, be happy for what you have and try to be nice and polite to other people so be very, very, very, very, very nice to other people and if you lost your temper just try to be very, very, very, very, very nice as you can.

And my last word, be very, very, very, very, very silent. Amen, Amen

BART's night service begins Friday

BART's long awaited night service will start up Friday, but valley patrons will have to wait a week for extended feeder bus runs.

The district has scheduled its yearly holiday shuttle to run until Dec. 30, with permanent night service starting Jan. 1, but because of scheduling notices to drivers, AC Transit's feeder bus service will not begin until Dec. 8.

A quirk in the law underwriting extended evening service says it cannot start until the first of the year, and that it cannot be continuous with existing evening service. Hence the reversion to the regular 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. schedule on New Year's Eve.

Feeder buses to the valley will leave BART's Hayward station at two hour intervals starting at 7 p.m. The last bus from Hayward leaves at 11:08 p.m. and arrives in Livermore at 11:58.

Buses from Bay Fair will run only to the end of the peak commute period, about 6 p.m.

The last bus from Livermore heading back to Hayward leaves the Stanley Boulevard stop at 10:12 p.m. and arrives at 10:58.

Only two rail lines will be running on the evening schedule: the Richmond-Fremont and Daly City-Concord services. The direct Fremont-Daly City line will close down at 6 p.m.

The trains will run at 20 minute intervals as opposed to their peak hour, 12 minute headways.

The last train from San Francisco's Powell Street station to Fremont departs at 12:20 a.m.; passengers must transfer at either the 12th Street or MacArthur stations.

The last train from Oakland's 12th Street station to Fremont leaves at 12:38, and from the Coliseum at 12:47.

The final train from Hayward to San Francisco leaves at 11:07, but users must transfer at the 12th Street Station. The last train from 12th Street to The City leaves at 11:32.

BART's Passenger Service Manager, Jack McDowell, suggests passengers purchase round-trip tickets when they first enter the system and be on the platform in plenty of time to catch the last train.

For further information valley residents should call 462 - BART.

A happy Thanksgiving for shut-ins

LIVERMORE — Hardly seems worth cooking a turkey and the trimmings when you're old and alone and house-bound.

You turn on the TV and watch the game and try to forget that Thanksgiving is the day for family gatherings and elaborate feasts.

But Livermore's elderly shut-ins aren't being forgotten this Thanksgiving. Those who are too feeble to get out to a big dinner at somebody's house, or at one of the churches, will be getting a delicious meal delivered to them today.

It's coming to them courtesy of a number of concerned (but publicity-shy) local people: The Soroptomists, Lillian Snorf of the Senior Service Center, and volunteers Ronnie Dorris Rupe and Bonnie Burink.

The alert Mrs. Snorf first picked up the fact that most of the retirees who don't have families nearby will be going to someone's home on Thanksgiving, but that a few can't leave their homes and can't afford the fancy spread that makes Thanksgiving more than just another Thursday in November.

"The Emergency Fund Center gives out Christmas baskets, but nobody delivers holiday food to these people on Thanksgiving," noted Mrs. Snorf.

"Well, I belong to the Soroptomists, so I mentioned the problem at one of our meetings. They gave a check to the Senior Service Center to buy food."

Next step was a call to Pleasanton's volunteer bureau to find somebody who would do the shopping and cooking for three elderly couples and three single ladies who live alone.

The call turned up Mrs. Rupe, who recently moved into the Meadows area of Livermore.

"A lot of times, older people aren't given enough attention and help," Mrs. Rupe feels. "I think they just sit by the phone all day, some of them."

She picked up the Soroptomists' check and headed for the supermarket. An hour later she emerged with six big boxes of frozen turkey roasts with dressing and gravy ("It was expensive, but they'll have good leftovers"); canned yams; rolls and butter; white potatoes; apples and oranges; and cranberries from which she made cranberry salad.

On Thanksgiving, all the oldsters will have to do is open a can or two; pull the salad out of the refrigerator; warm up the spicy pie and maybe not feel quite so alone.

Flag display at service

Ecumenical Thanksgiving Day services this morning at 10 will include a presentation depicting the flags that have flown over this country during its 200-year history.

Services will be at St. Augustine's Church.

The flag presentation was composed by the Pleasanton Bicentennial Festivals Committee under the director of Charlotte Severin.

Not only are they too stupid to fly. . .

"Nearest turkey farmers are in Turlock, I think.

"I guess turkeys are so ornery and stupid, nobody in the valley wants to raise 'em!"

That was a Livermore farmer's explanation for the fact that while the Valley has an abundance of commercially raised chickens, nobody is raising that old holiday standby, the turkey.

Turkeys have a bad reputation. In France for years, they've been calling any dupe a "dinde," or "turkey." The same insult has crept into American slang of late, and for good reason. They start life stupid, and seem to get even more idiotic as time goes on.

Typically, newly hatched turkeys spend the first month of their lives in an artificial brooder, a crowded and boring environment.

They sometimes take to eating their droppinqs, pecking each other, pulling feathers, or impacting their digestive systems with sand.

They may also pile on top of each other in cozy corners, smothering the ones at the bottom of the pile. Breeders have learned to round off the corners of their coops to avoid that kind of mass mayhem.

Young turkeys have been known to starve to death because they sometimes don't recognize food or water when they see it. But they are curious and attracted to bright colors, so farmers sometimes put the food on bright plates in hopes that the turkey will attack the plates by pecking at them, and pick up a little nourishment in the process.

On the other hand, turkeys are not very discriminating in their eating habits. They have been known to swallow marbles, money, handkerchiefs and candy wrappers — sometimes choking to death from them.

Like their nobler and more intelligent forebears, the wild turkeys, your average farmyard turkey is perfectly capable of flyinq but usually doesn't bother to try.

Nor does he bother to come in out of the cold, passively preferring to freeze to death unless driven into a shelter on an icy day.

Try to make friends with him, and he'll probably turn on you with his strong beak.

To give the myth of the traditional turkey a death blow — some anthropologists believe the first Thanksgiving featured almost evenything BUT turkey on the menu.

There may have been the meat of raccoons, bears, wild boar, venison, moose, beaver, pheasant or rabbit on the groaning board, along with potatoes, squash and carrots.

On the other hand, turkey was apparently first enjoyed among the Aztecs, who braised it and ate it on special occasions in a hot sauce containing chocolate.

The dish survives in the Mexican "mole poblano de quajolote."

The first domesticated American turkeys were imported from Europe. And Americans confused them with the guinea fowl, which had originally been imported to Europe from Turkey — hence the term "turkey" for the big fowl.

Flocks of turkey were thriving in Germany in the sixteenth century, as much as 100 years before the Pilgrims made their famous feast.

Yugoslavians enjoy a feast dish called podvarak — turkey stuffed with sauteed sauerkraut, onions, paprika and parsley.

And Valleyites, filled full of iconoclastic information on their favorite Thanksgiving treat, will still be enjoying one of the most luscious, nutritious and low-cost of holiday meals.

Happy holiday!

Thanksgiving's in the bag

FatRat foils posse

FatRat was selecting a sock.

This purple knee sock was the biggest. But the pale yellow was soft and fluffy.

On the other hand, the red would look perky with his yellow Kleenex-box house.

Of course, he wasn't planning to put the sock on his inch-long foot. He was going to use it for a pillow. The torn washcloth he had been sleeping on was getting squashed down and it didn't smell too good any more, either.

FatRat was in his friend Rachel's odd-sox drawer. Rachel had one drawer for pairs, and one for half-pairs. She always said the laundromat dryer ate socks.

The back of the drawer was broken, which was how FatRat was able to squeeze through. He knew he better shop for pillows in the odd-sox drawer and not the matched pairs drawer. Just as he was deciding on the big purple sock, FatRat smelled the most fabulous smell. It hit him like a knock on the head.

FRESH PUMPKIN BREAD WITH WALNUTS.

Just coming out of the oven. FatRat knew pumpkin bread when he smelled it. He had even had a taste of it once, just before Halloween, when Mommy made it and let Kevin and Rachel eat it in their room while they watched the Great Pumpkin on TV.

He dove out of the sock drawer, hopped down onto the rug and hurried over to the top of the stairs as fast as he could waddle. Mmm! The smell was much stronger there.

Losing no time, he leaped down the stairs. Which was no small project, since each stair was as high as FatRat was tall, tail included.

Fourteen stairs, but finally he was at the bottom. He flashed through the living room and came to a stop under the kitchen table, wiggling his whiskers expectantly.

There was Mommy in a long dress and stockings instead of jeans, for once. And Rachel actually wearing a dress, and blue tights. Kevin was all decked out in shirt and tie. This must be some kind of holiday.

FatRat decided he'd get dressed up, too. He picked up a scrap of ribbon from the floor (you could find almost anything you wanted on the kitchen floor some days) and tied it around his tail.

Then he hopped up on the chair and made a flying leap onto the table, happily waiting for someone to notice him and give him some pumpkin bread.

Unfortunately, Mommy was first to notice. She stopped in the middle of loading an enormous pile of rutabagas into a bag.

"Kevin, look! Your rat is out!"

Kevin thought this was great. "He tied a ribbon on his tail because he knows it's Thanksgiving," observed FatRat's master, age eight.

"Well, give him a little yogurt and pop him back in his cage. It's almost time to leave for Bill's in San Francisco. I must have to wrap up this pumpkin bread and give Bill a call to see if we can bring anything else."

A little yogurt! And back in the cage!

To sit alone all day while the children were at a Thanksgiving party in San Francisco!

FatRat did not go for that.

In one flying leap, he was off the table onto the floor. "Catch him!" yelled Mommy.

"I'll head him off at the sofa!" Rachel shrieked.

"I won't let him get up the stairs!" promised Kevin.

FatRat was under the sofa by this time. As soon as he saw Rachel's knees appear at one end of it, he slipped out the other.

"There he goes!"

Back into the kitchen. "Behind the refrigerator! Now what!"

By this time, Mommy had finished loading up on rutabagas. She tossed a big pot in and set the brown bag on the floor. Then she made her call to San Francisco.

"Behind the refrigerator," Kevin muttered. "We'll never get him now. He's hiding out, just waiting for us to leave.

"Well, FatRat," he said loudly, "hope you have a happy Thanksgiving behind the refrigerator!"

Everyone got their coats. Mommy picked up the bag with the rutabagas and cooking pot in it, set the pumpkin bread carefully on top, and hurried Kevin and Rachel out the door.

The bag went behind the back seat of their car.

And right now there's a certain small white rat, curled up on a pile of rutabagas under a pot, in a bag in the back of an orange car that's headed for San Francisco.

From time to time, he takes little bites out of the corner of the pumpkin bread.

But he's trying not to spoil his appetite for the big Thanksgiving dinner he's going to have.

Building site vote proposed

PLEASANTON — The possibility of the controversial East County governmental office building site becoming a city election issue was raised Monday night by citizen Ray Bianchi.

Bianchi told the city council he opposes the hillside site near Pleasanton Elementary School because it will increase downtown traffic, mean higher construction costs than on flat land, and not be a true midway location between Dublin and Livermore as Santa Rita would be.

"All three papers in the valley oppose the hill site and you have a judge in Livermore who doesn't agree with you. Apparently you want it at this end of town and you won't change your mind unless we change the city council March 3," said Bianchi.

Bianchi was referring to the council's endorsement site some months ago of the hill by a 4-1 vote, William Herlihy dissenting.

Herlihy reaffirmed his opposition Monday night. No specifics about the site or its use were presented to the council, he said.

Councilman Bob Philcox said it was the best site in the valley. Locating the facility at Santa Rita would isolate it and not provide a well-planned area for the offices and restaurants that invariably spring up around expanded governmental facilities, said Philcox. "Where do you grow on that hill," shot back Bianchi. "On the sewer farm?" The city's sewage treatment plant will be phased ott by 1980, replied philcox.

Assessed valuation talks set

LIVERMORE — A discussion of the current assessed valuations of some downtown properties selected at random in a city study — more than half of which showed no increases from last year — was continued from the city council meeting Monday night to next week.

At least part of the reason for the coninuance was the lateness of the hour when the matter was reached (11 p.m.) and the recent arrival (Monday afternoon) of a letter from the Alameda County Assessor in response to previous council questions on appraisal procedures.

State may drop Route 84 plans

The State Highway Commission is preparing to drop plans for a major improvement to the west end of Route 84 and that would have bypassed Newark and the Centerville District of Fremont.

The action comes even as City of Livermore and County of Alameda are pressing to keep alive hopes for extending the northern reaches of Route 84, via Isabel Avenue through Interstate 580.

The state had earlier indicated there was no money available "in the foreseeable future" to rebuild Route 84 from Niles Canyon via a western bypass of Livermore, eliminating also the twisting Vallecitos Road portion. Livermore still hopes to revive that bypass, some day, and has just about convinced the Alameda County board of supervisors to join in financing extension of Isabel Avenue from Stanley Boulevard to I-580. The thought is that this extension could someday become part of the new Route 84 alignment.

The state commission says it might drop the the new extension of Route 84 through Union City to Route 238 (north of Niles) because it hasn't got the $42 million needed for that 2.6-mile section. Route 84 is this valley's link to Dumbarton Bridge.

Pleasanton teachers hear about new bill

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr will appoint a three-member Educational Employment Relations Board in the next few weeks to administer the controversial tenets of the collective bargaining bill which goes into affect Jan. 1, 1976.

The EERB will have a $300,000 budget for the first year of operations and has virtual life and death powers over future administration and teacher negotiations.

According to James Cribben, chairman of personnel administration for Region VI of the Association of California School Administrators (ACSA) told Amador and Pleasanton teachers last week that the prime criteria for selection of the three board members will be their "knowledge and experience in employee-employer relations."

Cribben opined that the board members could come from private industry or a college background.

Each will be paid $36,000 and they will then be charged with appointing an executive director and other staff members as deemed necessary. They will serve staggered terms of one, three and five years.

Appointment of each by Brown will be with the consent of the State Senate.

The collective bargaining bill, SB 160 by Sen. Albert Rodda, was signed by Gov. Brown on Oct. 1.

Visiting firemen to get wine

LIVERMORE — The city council may have at last hit upon the perfect gift for visiting dignitaries.

A bottle of local wine with a label prepared especially for the City of Livermore.

The council voted unanimously to ask the staff to investigate the prices for the label and bottling and report back.

Some reservations were expressed by Mayor Archer Futch as to the propriety of presenting the fruit of the vine (albeit local) to the city's guests. They may have problems with customs or perhaps be young visitors.

Councilman John Staley, however, had the answer. The city could use its discretion in the case of under-age guests while other dignitaries were "welcome to drink the wine and take home the bottle."

Valley has much to be thankful for today

THANKSGIVING IS SHARING

Dee Richards, wife of the Rev. Kenneth Richards of St. Bartholomew Episcopal Church in Livermore, recruits daughters Jenny, Kathryn and Kim to prepare Thanksgiving dinner. The Richards family celebrates Thanksgiving in the church hall, and shares the day with parishioners who have no family close by, or with anyone else who is otherwise alone.

By REINA WHITNEY

THANKSGIVING is just a form of prayer — the form least used and most forgotten.

We all know how to ask for a favor or plead for forgiveness or another chance. But when the favor is granted, illness cured or mountain hurdled, we forget to say "Thank you." We have to have a national holiday to remind us to use the phrase at least once a year.

Even Jesus wondered what happened to the other nine lepers when only one came back to say "Thank you" after He had cured ten. But He didn't take back the cure — He just wondered.

Did you ever wonder? Did it ever a occur to you who does all the good in this beautiful valley in which we live? After you've given your can of food at church, or deposited your dime in the Salvation Army bucket or sent your discarded clothes to a thrift shop, did you ever once wonder who is making use of the results of your bounteous generosity?

"FOR I WAS HUNGRY AND YOU GAVE ME TO EAT."

Out in Livermore at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church young Pastor Richard, his expectant wife Dee and their three young children will be sharing their Thanksgiving dinner for the second year with all their parishioners who don't have family close by.

People are invited who would like to be close to those who love and enjoy the fellowship of their friends. They prepare their own meals at home and Father Richard and his wife set up decorated tables in their church hall so they can all get together and enjoy their dinners together. They are encouraged to include lonely seniors from the rest homes or those they may even find just sitting on a bench in town. This year for the first time, an adopted Vietnamese family will experience Thanksgiving Day in this atmosphere of love.

Fathers can still enjoy their day of football on TV's set up especially for the day and children are provided with plenty of games and recreation area. Doesn't this sound like the original Thanksgiving Day?

More than a dozen families in Komandorski Village found boxes on their doorstep last night brimming with food — turkey and all the fixin's for a complete Thanksgiving dinner. This was courtesy of the St. Raymond's St. Vincent de Paul Council who have been busily packaging the boxes all week from parishioners' donations.

"I WAS THIRSTY AND YOU GAVE ME TO DRINK."

Thank you to people like Candy Ingrahm and Richard Grove and others of the Hotline group who daily fill the needs of troubled Valley youth thirsty for a kind word and a listening ear.

And a special thanks to the senior citizen centers and volunteers who provide the recreational activities and necessary services to our many lonely seniors. thirsty for social contact and companionship.

"I WAS A STRANGER AND YOU MADE ME WELCOME."

We're thankful that people like Boyd and Ruth Shattuck, operators of Buenas Vidas Ranch, made their way to our corner of the world. They've opened up their hearts to homeless, sometimes rejected, confused youngsters from all over the bay area.

This year there are Vietnamese families in every corner of the valley experiencing for the first time this wonderful day of Thanksgiving. They came frightnened and insecure, and because of families who are unselfishly sharing their homes with them, their trust and self-assurance is quickly returning.

"I WAS NAKED AND YOU CLOTHED ME."

The "Clothes Closet" at Komandorski Village, operated by the Catholic Daughters of America is in its second year of distributing clothing for newborn babies through to adults. These are given to anyone in the Amador-Livermore Valley free of charge or any discrimination. The only pre-requisite is need.

Anyone who has lived in Pleasanton for any length of time knows they can call Shirley Casterson anytime to get emergency clothing or just help.

The same is true of Joyce Rockwell and Brenda Bodie of Dublin those tireless co-chairmen of the Children's Emergency Fund that 365 days of the year are receiving phone calls from families in distress and immediately and consistently answer the needs without question.

And many of the emergency centers such as the Valley Memorial Hospital Thrift Shop are manned by unpaid volunteers generously giving of their time and talents.

"I WAS SICK AND YOU VISITED ME."

The members of Pastor Bill Whitaker's First Baptist Church of Dublin-San Ramon weekly visit the Bethany and Pines rest homes in Livermore and Trueblood Rest Home in Pleasanton bringing solace to the forgotten aged with their spiritual readings and fellowship of song and community prayer. They always bring refreshments with them and give some seniors the only semblance of family with which they can identify.

The six very active members of Kappa Gamma Sorority of Livermore have adopted the oldsters at the Pines and have lent their talents to even painting and papering the drab rooms and making the remainder of their lives a little more cheerful. This same group sees to the needs of the mentally handicapped of the Garnet-Austin Center.

We cannot overlook the thousands of hours racked up annually by the "Pink Ladies" of the Valley Memorial Hospital Auxilliary as they daily see to the necessities of the helpless sick of the hospital. Nor can we ignore the volunteers that come in daily to the Veteran's Hospital in Livermore to write letters, shop for, play with or just talk to the physically handicapped and maimed.

"I WAS IN PRISON AND YOU VISITED ME."

In an area that has two prisons, this is one ministry with which we should all be aware. Besides the weekly visits of the Catholic priest, and the local ministers, there is a group called "The God Squad" that regularly visits Santa Rita Prison to talk to the prisoners on a one-to-one basis. They are trained at the Juvenile Home facility and cannot enter the prison until they can show identification that they have completed this training, which even qualifies some to be parole officers. Sometimes they are the only visitor the prisoners see in their long confinements.

For I was hungry and you gave me to eat.

I was thirsty and you gave me to drink.

I was a stranger and you gave me welcome.

I was naked and you clothed me.

I was sick and you cared for me.

I was in prison and you visited me.

Matthew 25

The 3-M Group of men are also regular visitors at Santa Rita. They set up regular contact with a prisoner that will extend at the time of his release. Sometimes they act as go-between for job finding, housing, family reconciliation and are an invaluable aid in the rehabilitation of the prisoner. They give hope to the hopeless.

We're thankful for you this Thanksgiving Day and to all others who were not mentioned here deserving of this thanks.

"COME, BLESSED OF MY FATHER, TAKE POSSESSION OF THE KINDGDOM PREPARED FOR YOU FROM THE FOUNDATION OF THE WORLD." (MATT. 25:31-46)

Astro Turf, Tartan Turf, artificial surface, mod sod, whatever they call that test tube grass on the floor of football stadiums has just about lost its charm as a source of discussion.

It's been quite a while now since the lawn under the Astrodome died, forcing the invention of ersatz playing surface. Following that momentous day, volumes of words have been spilled over the influence of the stuff on sport.

The experts have convinced us that artificial turf created the boom in base stealing, the demise of the bunt, and the plethora of 1,000-yard running backs.

It's been blamed for everything from boils and rug burns, to Bob Griese's mangled big toe.

It has given us the wit of Richie Allen, who said he wouldn't play on it, unless his horse could eat it.

But it has just about fizzled as a sports page item. Only an interior decorator could withstand another football announcer's analysis of fake grass. It has been talked to death. Everyone has heard about the stuff, and nearly everyone has played on it

Nearly, that is.

Out here in Livermore they're still awaiting the opportunity. For Granada High School's football team, the chance comes Friday night in the Four A championships at Diablo Valley College. So, lamentably, Astro Turf is topic A once again.

The players are curious about DVC's green rug. They display a nieve pre-occupation that most of their little brothers don't have any longer. After all, kids have been playing soccer and Pop Warner there for quite some time.

Not the Matadors' however. They're strictly "God's Green" types.

They spent Thanksgiving Eve in Pleasant Hill becoming aquainted with artificial turf. In the locker room this week they speculated about its hardness, its quickness and its effect on the outcome of 1975's biggest high school game.

The opposition, Pinole Valley High, played at DVC last week in defeating Clayton Valley, 10-7.

"It's supposed to make the backs quicker," says Granada runner Vance Rushing; "So it should help us more than it does them."

Indeed the Matador backfield of Rushing and Steve Jaeger may have the edge over Pinole in speed. The Spartan rushing leader, Terry Zahner, is quick, according to Granada's Don Couch. But he is chiefly an inside rusher. Jaeger and Rushing, on the other hand, look to break outside on option pitches from quarterbck John Walden. They'll hope to gain an extra step from the hard DVC surface.

Rushing may be concerned with Astro Turf's shocking rigidity. He bruised the back of his left shoulder in the game with Mission San Jose last week. It is still tender. Nevertheless, Vance says artificial surface can't be more unforgiving than the Tak Fudenna Field turf he played on last week.

"It was as hard as this," he said, tapping the locker room floor. "You know how brittle mud gets when it dries out? Well, that's what it was like. I fell once and nearly knocked myself out just by hitting the back of my head on the field. I got this (he pointed to the delicate shoulder) by hitting the field. It's way on the back, so I know nobody hit me there with a helmet. It's just where I fell."

The horror stories about burns and bruises from artificial turf don't concern the Matadors.

They're worried about shoes. Just what does the stylish young gridder wear to a phony football field?

"Anything they want," says Couch. "We'll have tennis shoes for them to try, and if they like them, they can wear them."

Couch placed some urgent phone calls Monday trying to locate 40 pairs of special football shoes designed just for artificial surface. He was seeking loaners, but didn't have any luck. DVC's athletic department told the competing teams to bring any kind of footwear approved for high school football. Prep gridders may wear shoes with maximum half-inch plastic cleats. Those metal tips that used to gash exposed legs so effectively, are outlawed.

Soccer shoes may be the best suited for Friday's game, and in fact, some players have been wearing them throughout the season.

"They can buy a pair if they want," says Couch; "but most of them know somebody who owns a pair, so they can borrow them."

"I think I'll buy a pair of Addidas," Rushing announced. "I need a pair just to mess around in anyway."

"I've got a good friend at Contra Costa College, and they have artificial turf there," Couch says. "He told me the backs will love playing on it because it will make them quicker. He said all you have to do is make sure you field punts and kicks, because if they bounce, they'll really go. We've been teaching our players to do that all year long anyway."

Foreman TKOS Ballard

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Former world heavy - weight champion George Foreman stopped young Jody Ballard 30 seconds into the second round of their boxing exhibition for the benefit of the U.S. Olympic Fund Wednesday night.

Foreman, weighing 229 pounds, took control early in the fight and and never let up. He had Ballard, 202, on the floor as the bell sounded ending the first round and put him down again early in the second round before referee Arthur Mercante stepped in and ended it.

Foreman, who won the heavyweight crown by knocking out Joe Frazier and then lost it to Muhammad Ali, donated his services for this fund-raiser for the U.S. Olympic Fund, held at the Concord Hotel. A crowd of close to 2,000 attended the exhibition.

Since losing the title, Foreman has only had one other public outing. That came in Toronto, when he went against five different opponents in a televised exhibition.

In Wednesday night's bout he started off with a series of left jabs to the face of Ballard, a 24-year-old boxer from Houston who has a 22-3 pro record and had won his last eight fights. A series of lefts and rights had Ballard on the ropes late in the round, and he finally went down from a left-right combination.

Ballard was climbing to his feet at the count of two when the bell sounded, ending the round. Ballard had a mouse under his left eye.

Foreman went right back at his opponent at the start of the second round, unleashing a series of combinations that sent Ballard back to the canvas. While Ballard was still down, the veteran Mercante stepped in and waved a halt to the proceedings.

Foreman, 27, from Livermore, Calif., has a pro record of 40-1 with 37 knockouts.

Gladiator booters battle East LA

A second straight California State Junior College crown is the goal of Chabot College's soccer team when the Gladiators take on host East Los Angeles at 1 p.m. Saturday.

The Gladiators and East LA tied for the championship last season and Chabot's team is eager to settle once and for all which squad is the better.

The only problem is the Gladiators know very little about their upcoming opponent.

"They are a mystery to us right now," Chabot coach John Shaw admits. "We haven't had a chance to get scouting reports on them. However, we knew they had quite a few freshmen on last season's squad so they are definitely very good."

The Gladiators won the right to meet East LA for the state championship when they defeated Golden Gate Conference rival West Valley 3-1 for the Northern California crown last Saturday in Hayward.

"That wasn't one of West Valley's better efforts," said Shaw. "They are a better team than Skyline but they didn't really get going until the second period."

The Gladiators started the season with a rather young, inexperienced squad. However, the players made up for this inexperience with a more aggressive attitude and were more physical against other teams, according to Shaw. Chabot defense has been very solid this season with All-American goaltender Steve Hector sparking the effort. Hector was outstanding against West Valley, shuting out the Vikings in the first half.

Wing Tim Wade has also been a sparkplug for the Gladiators in the past few games. The freshman from Livermore scored one goal, and had one assist while playing a brilliant all-around game against West Valley.

The Gladiators are hurting at fullback for the East LA contest. Starter Oscar Herrera is doubtful for the match while back-up Fred Azadon is also hurting. Azadon has a bad ankle, but "should play," according to Shaw.

If Azadon can not play, Shaw says he will put either freshman John Cerrutti or sophomore Bob Susic at the position.

Dublin balance tops Mt. Eden

Balance has been the key for Dublin High School this season in non-league soccer and yesterday's impressive 6-1 victory over Mt. Eden on the loser's field was no exception.

Five different players scored goals as the Gaels took a 2-0 halftime lead and were never headed. Robin Sherwood scored twice and Bob Figoni, Bob Kline, Mat Bryant and Doug Kohl added single goals.

Figoni started the scoring with a goal early in the first period and also played a fine, all-around game. Gael coach Cassvon also praised the work of halfback Greg Jenkins. Another Halfback, Mike Laudanback, added an assist.

The Gaels, who finished second in the East Bay Athletic League last season, and have a veteran team back, are currently 3-0 for the non-league schedule.

Dublin's junior varsity also won, taking a 2-0 decision over Mt. Eden. Stuart Adamson and Paul Mangini scored the Dublin goals.

Dublin opens EBAL action Tuesday against San Ramon on the Gael's field.

Tuesday the Gaels defeated Irvington 2-1.

That tingling sensation

The dressing room chatter is boisterous, a cacophony of small talk pierced occasionally by harsh laughter or the incantations of coaches.

All seems calm, light, happy if you will.

And indeed, at Granada High School they are happy with a first-ever EBAL football championship, and the Southern Region crown won last week in the North Coast Four A playoffs.

But underneath it all runs the sense of quiet urgency accompanying this Friday's championship game at Diablo Valley College with Pinole Valley.

"Gee it would be great to win," sighs Don Couch, the Granada coach who looks like he could do with a vacation.

All the Matadors know how great it would be. But they don't want to dwell on it openly. Instead, they compose little jokes about the opposition, or each other, meaningless quips that break up the tension. And there is tension, even if the North Coast Section championship is not quite the Rose Bowl.

"I just can't sleep lately," says Couch, gazing off into nowhere, tapping an inperceptable rhythm on the desk top with one finger. "There's just so much to do, besides getting the team ready for the game. You know, this is really going to be a nice game. They've got it set up on a good schedule. At 7:30 you're here, at 7:35 you do this. It should be good."

It could be great if Granada engineers a second upset in two weeks. Despite the protests of the Matadors, Pinole is the favorite for this game, just as Mission San Jose was last week. Both have been rated number one entering their showdowns with Granada. It's a situation Couch prefers.

"I'd just as soon not be ranked number one for this," says Couch, echoing the sentiments his all-EBAL tackle Ron Freeman expressed last week. The Matadors accept it as a personal affront that they are not afforded more respect in the polls. It served as an incentive for the Mission San Jose victory, Freeman said. It may work the same way again.

"No one expected us to be here, but I really think the kids believed they would," Couch said. "The kids like each other, they want to keep together and they want to keep this thing going.

"Pinole might have a little more respect for us since we knocked off the number one team last week. Or, they might just think it was a fluke. I hope they do.

"I don't know how the players will react now," Couch said. "I don't know if they'll be over confident after beating Mission. We'll have to wait and find out. All we can do is try and guard against it."

"This team has got pride," says Freeman, who seems to feel it will carry Granada past Pinole. "We've got the greatest bleeping fans in the world," says another all-EBAL lineman, Ed Ebert.

It also has a coach who could use a good night's sleep when this is all over.

Dolls to melt a little girl's heart

By REINA WHITNEY

Waldean Dana of Livermore has discovered a world of fantasy seldom experienced by many. She is literally living in a "doll's world." Mrs. Dana has revived an art that dates back to the early 1800's — the making of porcelain china dolls.

Their lifelike eyes seem to follow you as you walk around her charming living room. Their outstretched arms invite you to hugs and caresses. Their enchanting period dresses of eyelet, ribbons and lace, reminiscent of another time, another era, charm the most discerning critic.

Waldean Dana is their creator. She even seems to breathe a personality into each different cunning creature that she molds.

She completely constructs the dolls by pouring the liquid porcelain into imported molds. The molds are made of plaster of paris, which has the capacity of absorbing all the liquid in the porcelain and the doll features shrink away from the mold natually and are easily removed. Once removed, they must be meticulously cleaned of all grit and foreign materials. The edges of the newly formed body, face, and all the limbs are carefully sanded, washed and made ready for the first firing in the kiln.

This first firing process changes the color of the mold from an ashen grey to the familiar life-like flesh tone of the porcelain.

The dolls are then cleaned again. The eye sockets must be carefully hewn out and made ready for the glass eyes that are made by the same manufacturer that makes artificial eyes for human use. The china surface is carefully painted — lips, eyelashes and brows, blushing on cheeks and sometimes a dimple, and then the dolls must be returned to the kiln for another firing process.

Now the doll is ready for wig and wardrobe fittings. Waldean outfits all her dolls in period dress, trying to get old materials to make them look even more authentic. She haunts flea markets, and thrift stores to find old lace and delicate fabrics with which to work. If not successful, she dips new white material into tea or coffee and rewashes it to give it an "old look." The entire process, from start to finish, takes about 30 hours per doll.

She started her all-consuming occupation (we hesitate to call it a "hobby") when her eleven-year-old twin girls, Julie and Laurie were three years old and started to take an active interest in dolls. After having had one boy, Jaimie, now 13, her twin girls had to have something special in the way of dolls.

She bought her first "old doll" and started a research program in libraries and book stores studying their history, costuming and hair styles.

This led to a course in doll making from David Hoff, of Da-Ho Ceramics in Hayward. Her first venture was a Bye-Lo Baby, a replica of one of the first American dolls which looks like a tiny new-born baby, and which can be purchased in kit form.

The more refined method that she now employs followed. She buys the liquid porcelain In Hayward, the molds from a New York company called "Dollspart," and the wigs and the eyes by catalogue, also from New York.

Her husband, Ned Dana, gifted her with a kiln for one birthday, and now he as well as her children all help with the tedious sanding and cleaning process so necessary in producing a beautiful finished product. Her youngest boy, eight-year-old Gregory, is already showing outstanding artistic ability, which his mother greatly encourages.

Mrs. Dana first started making the dolls for her own pleasure and that of her girls. When neighbors saw them, tmey started ordering for themselves, and even receiving lessons from Waldean. One of her neighbors has even branched out into a related hobby of making doll houses for Waldean's dolls.

Her first public expoure was a boutique show at Smith School in Livermore, near her home. The dolls were so successful, that one woman ordered a doll and an entire wardrobe. Another woman that happened to spot her dolls at this show was Mary Martin, one of the co-owners of Martin-Munoz Doll Hospital in Hayward. She took some of the dolls to a show in Reno, Nev., where they again met with considerable success.

Mary Martin and Josephine Munoz since then have been a great help to Waldean in learning to construct the costuming. She says that they even make high-button shoes in repairing old dolls for their customers.

The Bride, the Kewpie, the Countess, the Country Milk-maid and even Shirley Temple — all of Waldean Dana's "children" will be at a Valley Craft Guild Show at Howard Johnson's in Dublin, Nov. 29 and Nov. 30.

This bevy of beauties — the Milk Maid, the Bride, Annie Laurie, the Countess, Bye-lo Baby, and Kewpie dolls — are the creation of Waldean Dana of Livermore.

inside the arts

Among the 40-plus local craftpersons participating in the Valley Craft Guild's third annual Christmas show are Sandie Hansen, Carol Goff and Joyce Callaghan. A variety of gift items for men, women and children — all handmade by participants in the show — will be offered at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Dublin Saturday, Nov. 29 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 30 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Theater closes generation gap

The American Fantasy Theater will open its 1975-76 season with a musical satire for children and adults alike entitled "The Dangerous Christmas of Red Riding Hood," or "Oh Wolf, Poor Wolf."

The show's tour of East Bay cities includes performances at Amador Valley High School in Pleasanton the evenings of Dec. 13 and 19, and afternoons of Dec. 14 and 20.

"The Dangerous Christmas ... " tells in song and dance the Wolf's version of the tale of Red Riding Hood. The musical was originally produced as an ABC-TV special starring Liza Minelli, Cyril Ritchard and Vic Damone.

"We wanted to begin our tour this year with a unique seasonal show," explains the company's director. "The show is an entertaining adult comedy, excellent children's theater and a unique satire as well." American Fantasy Theatre toured the East Bay area last spring with the musical fantasy "Peter Pan."

The theater's season premiere was made possible by Producer Craig Gorson who contracted the rights to adapt the show as a stage presentation. As a result, "The Dangerous Christmas ..." will make its stage debut in the Bay Area.

Tickets for the four performances at Amador High are $1.25 for children, $1.75 for students and $2.25 for adults. Group rates are available upon request.

For further information or reservations write: American Fantasy Theatre, 2910 Ellis St., Berkeley, Calif. 94703, or call 848-3280.

COMING TO AMADOR HIGH SCHOOL

'Papa Doo Run Run,' has gained popularity in the Bay Area for its imitation of the Beach Boys style.

The star recording group "Papa Doo Run Run" is billed for the first professional concert to be sponsored at Amador Valley High School in Pleasanton Tuesday, Dec. 2.

The Amador student executive council has joined forces with the Amador basketball team to present the 7:30 p.m. concert of 1960s-style music, ala Beach Boys.

The five-member "Papa" has starred in more than 100 performances before sell-out crowds in the Bay Area during the past three years. "Papa" has just returned from a recording engagement at the RCA studios in Los Angeles where the group cut a revival of the Beach Boys classic "Be True to Your School."

The group's performance employs costume changes, comedy routines and dance contests.

Tickets for the concert at the Amador boys' gym are $1.50 to Amador student body card holders. Advance tickets for non-card holders and other valley high or junior high school students are $2, and may be purchased at the Amador student affairs office. If any tickets remain, they will sell for $2.50 at the door.

Unusual needlepoint stitch attracts comment at San Francisco show

By KAREN BOYLE

"Needlepoint is my purple passion," said Jerry Zarbaugh, a Livermore resident whose handiwork was recognized last week at the fifth annual Festival of Needlework at the Hall of Flowers in Golden Gate Park.

Zarbaugh entered three needlepoint pillows of her own design. One was awarded third prize and another received an honorable mention.

The third-prize winner featured a stitch Zarbaugh created and is currently in the process of copyrighting.

"I call it 'Jerry's two-needle pyramid stitch'," she said. "Right now I'm getting together some clear drawings and directions to copyright the design."

Zarbaugh admitted she enjoyed overhearing comments about her pyramid pillow. "People had all sorts of ideas on how I achieved the three-dimensional effect. Some thought I stuffed the canvas, other said I had appliqued the pyramids onto the surface," Zarbaugh said.

"Jerry's two-needle pyramid stitch" uses no packing or stuffing materials. "It's a self-padding stitch, and you must use two needles simultaneously," she explained.

Zarbaugh has been doing needlepoint "for six or seven years, but for four years intently — or should I say intensely." Her other talents include weaving and jewelry making, but needlepoint, she declared, has become her purple passion."

Confessing not immodestly she had "picked up a few ribbons over the years," Zarbaugh said her last year's entry in the Festival of Needlework was a two-foot by three-foot "Please, No Smoking" sign which won a blue ribbon.

"I'm always looking around for something new, trying different things," said Zarbaugh. "Right now I have 22 different kinds of yarn spread out on my kitchen table. I'm planning to work up a sampler using the different types to show people the variety of yarn that's available."

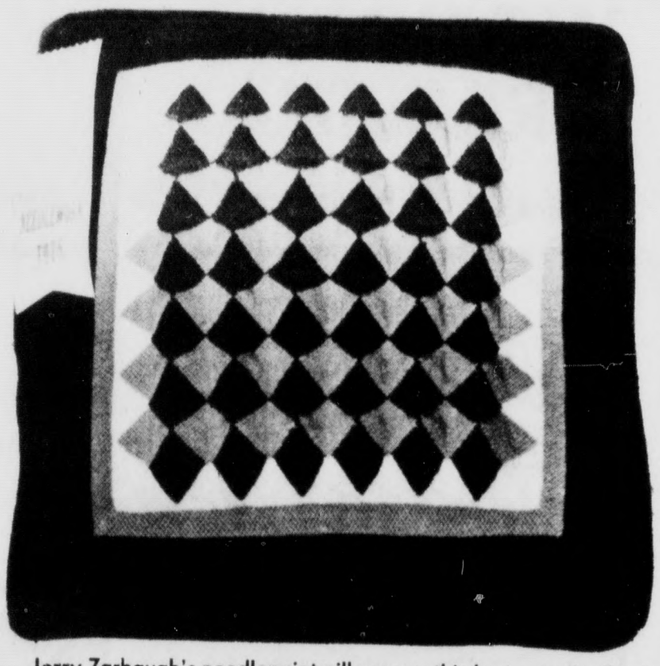
"My needlepoint is always with me. I bring it to work and stitch away during lunch," Zarbaugh said. She has been employed for nearly 19 years at the General Electric Vallecitos Center.

Zarbaugh is also active in the Livermore Art Association. Jewelry she designed won a blue ribbon in the Livermore fall festival.

She admitted her interest in conquering new horizons in stitchery is due partly to a friendly rivalry with her brother. "His design of a paisley dinner jacket won "Best of Show" at the American Needlepoint Show, held earlier this month in San Francisco," she said.

Zarbaugh will have a chance to pass her "purple passion" on to others when she begins her first official needlepoint class next January in Sonoma.

There the secret of Jerry's award-winning "two-needle pyramid stitch" will be revealed.



Jerry Zarbaugh's needlepoint pillow won third prize in the Festival of Needlework at the Hall of Flowers in Golden Gate Park. It is worked on 12-mesh mono canvas in black, white and grey wool yarn, and features "Jerry's two-needle pyramid stitch" which gives it the three-dimensional shape.

For Thursday, Nov. 27, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be very tactful today in handling people who are helping you, but who are not really obligated to do so. You could rub them the wrong way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're still very prone today to take foolish risks with your resources. Be very wary of all things speculative. Stick to the blue chips.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If there is an unnecessary tempest at home today, chances are the blame can be traced to you. Don't sound off without thinking.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're very easily irritated today, but you're not likely to tell the real cause of your frustration. If you don't, nothing can be resolved.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't let an overenthusiastic friend sell you a bill of goods on a pet project. It could cost you plenty.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're going to let someone set the pace for you, rather than determine your own speed. Unfortunately, your stride and theirs aren't in harmony.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't talk about your ideas prematurely today or discuss them with one who isn't in a position to judge objectively.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Just because you know a person socially is no reason to deal with them in a business sense. In fact, today scrupulously avoid such involvement.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It would be a mistake today to be too self-serving at another's expense. This person would be very irritated if he felt he was being used.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone you'll be closely associated with today has a great big chip on his shoulder. A few loose words could easily knock it off.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) To save money today, you may tackle something that's better left to experts. You could wind up with a larger bill than anticipated.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Normally you're easy to get along with. Today, however, you're apt to behave in a manner that others could find offensive.

Your Birthday

Nov. 27, 1975

This coming year you'll be better off if you handle important projects unencumbered by partners. Do what has to be done on your own, for best results.

Opening lead — 3 ♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The student gasped when the Professor won the first trick with the ace of hearts over East's queen.

The Professor knocked out East's ace of clubs and claimed the balance after West cashed three heart tricks.

"Why didn't you duck the first heart?" asked the student, after the Professor had chalked up the rubber.

"I couldn't afford to," replied the Professor. "If I could have depended on my opponents to keep leading hearts everything would have been fine. I could have made an extra trick. But someone might have shifted to a spade and I would have chucked my contract."

"Suppose West had made the tricky opening lead of the lowest card of a five-card suit?" asked the student.

"I would have paid off," replied the Professor. "West might well have done that, but he would have needed five hearts first."

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Florida was victimized when given wrong information by his opponents in response to proper questions. The opponents went on to win the tournament after the director ruled against our correspondent. Needless to say, he was upset.

We sympathize with him, but the director had ruled correctly. Even the world's greatest players forget their own conventions. Usually it costs them. This time they were just real lucky.

Kottinger restoration sought

PLEASANTON — The Amador - Livermore Valley Historical Society put in a bid for federal revenue-sharing money to help restore the Kottinger Barn on Ray Street Monday night.

Bill Apperson of the historical society did not list any specific amount in his presentation to the city council, but asked that he be consulted before the council conducts the second of two public hearings on revenue-sharing December 8.

"The historical society stands strong on this point. It is a cultural advantage for Pleasanton," said Apperson. The barn should not be allowed to deteriorate, he added.

Some $76,000 is available in the second increment of a three year revenue-sharing subsidy. Approximately $36,000 became available last year and another $113,000 will be available next year.

The council last year committed the first increment to the beginning of two projects: installation of new water lines in the Harris Acres area and construction of one block of Peters Avenue at half-width between Division Street and Rose Avenue. The money has not been spent yet for the projects. The staff has recommended that all three increments be used to accomplish the two capital improvement projects. Council members made no commitment and continued the public hearing to December 8.

Couples cherish sterling gift

When a newly engaged or young married couple is involved in furnishing that first tiny apartment, one of the most welcome Christmas gifts of all is something beautiful for their new home.

Sterling silver splendidly qualifies as a much-wanted and appreciated gift, especially these days. For solid silver's not only a cherished possession that lends elegance and a special-occasion quality to entertaining, but a gift of great intrinsic value — value which is likely to increase over the year. This happy fact sets sterling apart from those household possessions which depreciate rapidly, need repairs, or go out of style.

Sterling silver, you know, is solid silver through and through. Use can never "spoil" it, for those tiny lines that gradually appear on the surface of the metal blend together to form a soft, lustrous patina that makes beautiful silver even lovelier.

The extreme durability of sterling not only offers a lifetime of enjoyment, but insures its future as a family heirloom — a precious possession to be handed down to the couple's children, who will use and enjoy it in turn.

One of the nicest things about giving sterling is that it's so easy to choose when you know the girl's pattern, and that it offers such flexibility in size. The gift can range anywhere from a number of place settings down to a single, shining piece.

PRECIOUS METALS are more precious than ever these days — and sterling gifts such as these promise both a lifetime of enjoyment and value for the future. Individual serving pieces such as the pierced tablespoon and pie or cake server shown, place settings, or individual place pieces are all marvelous gifts for young couples.

Even one teaspoon is greatly valued, and precious to the bride-to-be or young hostess who's collecting sterling. "Just one piece" can make a great big difference, for instance, when a young hostess is setting a buffet table. Those extra teaspoons or salad forks make it possible for her to entertain more guests than usual when she's planning a relatively uncomplicated party such as a dessert buffet.

Individual serving pieces are good gifts, too. Indispensable items such as the lemon fork, pickle fork, sugar spoon and bon bon spoon are small, but undeniably elegant, gifts.

Gift-givers who think in terms of several place settings will find the special purchase plans carried by many stores particularly convenient. These plans offer time payments for sterling purchase, often with no interest or carrying charges.

It should be noted, too, that the increasing simplification of menus and recipes has served to reduce the size of sterling place settings today. The most popular place-setting size now consists of four pieces — and for many buffet meals, even three pieces can suffice.

Whether the gift is large or small, sterling silver is one of life's beautiful things which a couple can enjoy during their entire life together. And what better solution could there be for anyone's gift-giving dilemma?

Bountiful buffet can be colorful

One of the easiest and most attractive ways to serve your party guests during the Christmas season is to arrange a buffet table of delights.

The buffet offers the guests easy and comfortable access to all of the "goodies" while it frees the host and hostess from a good deal of work and strain.

And aside from its culinary bounty, the buffet holds tremendous opportunities for creative Christmas decorating. It can be decked with floral arrangements, candles and ornaments, or placed against the wall to create an interesting mural effect.

For a really special party idea, double your guests' enjoyment with two separate buffet tables. On one table you might arrange all of the hors d'oeuvres, cheese and crackers along with a punch bowl of hot spiced wine.

On the other side of the room place a buffet with cookies, cakes and coffee. By adding a few plates of nuts and such strategically placed on end tables and beside chairs, you'll not only have an attractively arranged room, but also one of the greatest natural ways to keep your company mixing and mingling!

Whiz of a machine makes a perfect gift

From blender to microwave ovens, today's shopper has an incredible range of convenience appliances from which to choose. And Christmas is the perfect time to give that someone special one of these remarkable time-savers. But which one?

This year, you can give a gift that does the work of more than a dozen appliances, and yet takes up no more space than a conventional blender.

The VitaMix 3600 is a small wonder that whips, grinds, purees, liquefies, mixes all kinds of batters, chops nuts and ice, grates fruits and vegetables, grinds coffee and spices, kneads dough — the list goes on and on! It will also prepare frozen sherbet or piping hot soup with equal ease.

And most remarkable of all, it does all of these jobs without one additional accessory part to purchase, assemble, wash or store.

For the young couple just starting out, the VitaMix 3600 would make an ideal gift, an all-in-one appliance that will save them time and unnecessary expense. Natural food buffs will love it for the opportunity it gives them to make a whole range of fresh juices, utilizing vitamin-rich peels and skins.

For those with a nostalgia for home-baked bread, this amazing machine will take a whole kernel of wheat, grind it, knead it into dough and have it in the bread pan in four minutes!

Mothers will appreciate its convenience, since this remarkable appliance comes with its own pressurized spigot so processed foods can be served right from the spout and a patented blade-reversal action. This blade reversal action evenly chops meat, nuts, fruit and ice without having to add liquids as you do in a conventional blender.

And for the gourmet chef who has everything, why not round out his or her collection with this handy appliance that will turn out such delicacies as homemade peanut butter, exotic fruit frappes and finely crushed flavored ices?

From the novice to the expert cook, from brides to grandmothers — everyone is bound to appreciate this handy little whiz of an appliance. As a matter of fact, why not write it down on your own list to Santa? For further information and a free 128-page recipe book write: The VitaMix Corp., 8615 Usher Road, Cleveland, Ohio 44138.

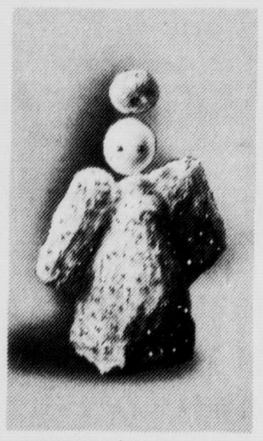
Celebrate all year with host of holiday ideas

Angelic Christmas idea



SURPRISE YOUR own little cherubs with a special holiday dessert, a pretty Christmas angel made from Hostess Twinkies. It's so easy to assemble that you might want to let them make it themselves for a holiday project that's both fun and delicious.

A project to keep little devils out of mischief during the holiday season — let them join in the finger-licking fun of making this "Littlest Angel."

It's easy to assemble and will leave very little mess for mom to clean up afterwards. The body is made from Hostess Twinkies, always a favorite with the kids. Just add frosting and candy decorations and they'll have the ingredients for a whole afternoon of creativity. Here's all you need for this mini-angel:

7 Hostess Twinkies
toothpicks
1 6-inch styrofoam cone
½ can ready-to-spread white frosting
silver cake decorations
2 cloves
1 Hostess doughnut

Cut Hostess Twinkies in half length-wise, separating flat bottoms from curved tops. Leave overnight to stale slightly. Fasten halves with toothpicks vertically in two tiers around the cone. Toothpick two halves together for each wing and skewer to the top tier. Frost the cakes and sprinkle with silver cake decorations. Use cloves to make eyes in the styrofoam ball. Toothpick doughnut to ball and ball to cone.

CHILDREN and adults will admire this merry little Gorham sterling Snowman as a Christmas tree ornament. A very special gift, it can also be worn as a fashion accessory all winter long.

You don't have to be a collector to enjoy the charming new Gorham Christmas Tree ornaments. Ideal as holiday gifts, they will please anyone lucky enough to receive them. They can add sparkle to a family tree, and can be worn as pendants during the holiday season. You may want to start your own unique collection of tree ornaments or to give one to your favorite collector.

The 1975 Gorham Sterling Snowflake is the latest addition to the now famous annual Collector's Edition. Each year since 1970 Gorham has produced a unique new sterling Snowflake design. Intended for the tree, they are now sought by collectors and have become more valuable as the annual edition continues.

This year for the first time, Gorham has also introduced a charming Crystal Snowflake which has captured the interest and attention of all who see it.

How to shop for a stereo instrument

If you are planning to purchase a stereo set for your home or as a gift, Zenith Radio Corporation has some suggestions to serve as a guide.

Choose a dealer that stocks brand names and models, has good displays, and will allow comparison between different types of sets.

But even before you shop, perhaps you might ask yourself a few questions to help determine what type of system is best for individual needs.

In which room of your home do you plan to use the stereo unit? Where do you plan to put the speakers if you purchase a modular unit? How much furniture do you have?

Do you need a system to play records as well as receive AM/FM/Stereo FM broadcasts? Do you want the unit to play 8-track cartridge tapes? Do you want to record and play back your own 8-track cartridge tapes — cassette tapes?

Modular systems usually come in three pieces: a main unit and two separate speaker enclosures. These systems are more flexible in decorating than consoles. They are not tied to one furniture style and can fit easily into large or small rooms according to the owner's needs.

A console stereo unit contributes a furniture piece to the room it occupies. Furniture styles available include: Contemporary or Modern, Early American, Mediterranean, Spanish, Country French and Country English.

Modulars and consoles may be purchased with a minimum number of audio instruments.

Yummy chocolate fondue, fun for guests

If you would like to invite the real holiday spirit into your home, follow the example of Swiss cooks and have a traditional Swiss favorite, chocolate fondue dessert.

We are told that, like many great dishes, the fondue originated many years ago in Switzerland where hardened bread was soaked in hot milk or wine to make it palatable again. Someone discovered that adding cheese or chocolate to the pot created a new flavor.

Today's hostess can prepare a chocolate fondue and let guests serve themselves from the portable electric Table Range by Corning. Set the control on a low heat setting and the precise thermostatic control in the heating element keeps the fondue warm without scorching the chocolate.

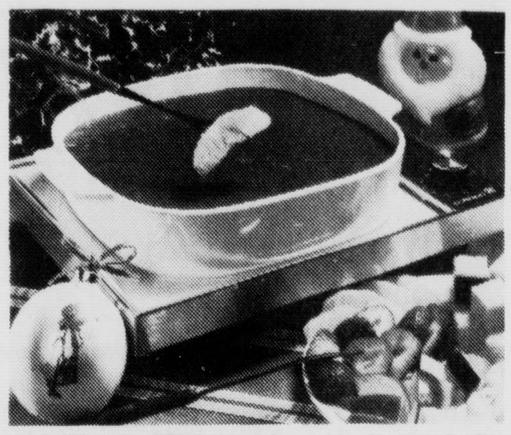
Home economists of Corning Glass Works suggest dunking a combination of angel food cake or lady fingers, cut in chunks, or fruit pieces, such as orange or tangerine slices, strawberries or pineapple chunks. It's an informal and easy way of letting people partake in the festivities.

CHOCOLATE FONDUE INGREDIENTS

3 bars milk chocolate
¼ cup honey
1½ teaspoons vanilla
½ cup crushed almonds
½ cup cream
2 tablespoons kirsch, cognac or cointreau

Break the chocolate into pieces, combine all ingredients in Table Range skillet. Stir over low heat until chocolate is melted and mixture is smooth.

Each "fondue-er" dunks and swirls pieces of cake or fruit in the chocolate mixture. Serves four to six persons.



GUESTS CAN SERVE themselves with chocolate fondue from a portable electric Table Range from Corning Glass Works.

Liberated ladies seek nifty gifts

Whether or not your lady love is a member of N.O.W., it's a sure-fire thing that she'd like to be liberated from everyday, boring, repetitious chores. Anyone would, and if you follow this reasoning, it will lead you to discover a lot of nifty new Christmas gifts that she'd enjoy getting and you'd find easy to give.

To verify this, we asked a woman friend of ours to list the things that she'd like right now and we think it makes interesting reading. There are delightful ideas in all price categories and there are a lot of items that we would not have dreamed she'd want.

Here it is, along with her reasoning and our price ratings. One dollar sign means an inexpensive stocking stuffer, two $$ means moderately priced, three $$$ is an expensive item, four $$$$ is a real investment.

1. A small, gas miserly car of my own so that I can do errands in my own time. Alternately a ten speed bicycle. With either, a good book on what makes it go so that I can talk back to the mechanic knowledgeably. $$$$

2. A dishwasher, no marriage should be without one. It's cleaner, faster and saves water too. No reason why a single person should be without one, come to think of it! $$$

3. An array of the new felt tip balljotter pens that write with the ease of a ballpoint, the look of real ink. $

4. An easy to operate mini camera so I can take my own spur-of-the-moment pictures without making it a big production. $$

5. A microwave oven. Fast, fast, fast! $$$

6. Pretty, wipeable placemats and tablecloths so that I can set a decorative table and avoid the upkeep of linen. $$

7. My own Lady Remington electric shaver, fast and efficient as my husband's, with dual heads for underarms and legs and designed to take replacement blades so it's always sharp. $$

8. An appointment calendar of my own, small enough to tote in my bag, lots of room for notes. $

9. A bag big enough to double as a briefcase so that I can carry my important papers without getting them scrambled. $$

10. A postal scale that will weigh my small packages at home saving me a trip to the post office. $

11. Prestamped envelopes for fast bill paying. Pre-return addressed ones will earn extra thanks. $

12. A supply of jiffy bags and book mailers with address labels so I can wrap and send small packages without a fuss. $

13. A real sharp pocket knife or a good pair of folding scissors for cutting up when I'm out. $

14. A subscription to the Wall Street Journal and Scientific American so I can know what's going on in money and the real world as soon as he does. $

15. Art Flick's New Streamside Guide, so when I hang up my "Gone Fishing" sign you know I won't come back empty-handed!

Freezin' season for hip hostess

Crafty Christmas hostesses will get a jump on the holiday season and all of the extra work that it brings by starting early to prepare and freeze their favorite holiday dishes.

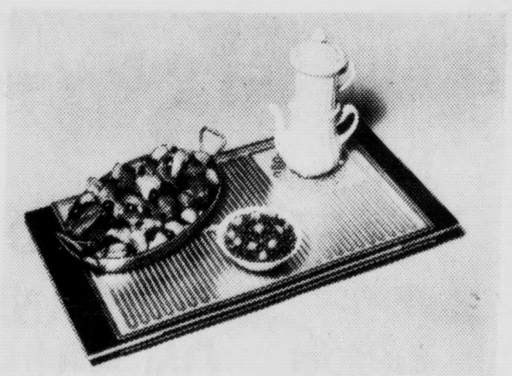
Cakes, cookies and hors d'oeuvres can all be frozen well in advance of Christmastime so there's never any worry of being unprepared for those unexpected get-togethers.

They'll fit right in next to ol' Tom Turkey — ready and waiting for his pre-banquet thaw!

A word of advice: don't let all of your good intentions be ruined by last minute confusion. Be sure to mark all of your items before placing them in the freezer.

Carefree household gift

WATCH THE WHOLE HOUSEHOLD BEAM with pride on Christmas morning when they spot this gleaming new portable dishwasher from Hotpoint. And listen to the approving remarks when they find out how quietly it runs and how many convenience features it has, including energy-saving short wash, the popular Dish & Pot Washer cycle to tackle the really tough jobs and a soft food disposer which virtually ends pre-rinsing. And its Power Saver Dry cycle can even help to conserve electrical energy. A cherry-wood top provides not only a chopping block-type work surface but adds to available counter space. This Hotpoint dishwasher is an ideal gift for the whole family.



MOTHER'S BEST PLUM PUDDING will stay warm and perfectly delicious when she serves it buffet-style on this Sovereign model Hotray from the Salton Company. And there will still be room for coffee and all the other family favorites. Put one under the Christmas tree for the start of a yummy holiday season!

Small screen TV gets big welcome

Small screen television sets offer the buyer a seemingly unending selection from which to choose a gift for whoever heads your Christmas list this year.

Important too — prices of the sets fit nicely into many gift budgets.

Popular color portables come in 13- and 17-inch diagonal sizes. The selection broadens in black-and-white TV to include 9-, 12-, 16- and 19-inch diagonal screens.

The little take-along 9-inch diagonal set has much to recommend it. Those from Zenith, for example, operate indoors on alternating current, outdoors on direct current — from the 12-volt electrical system of an auto or recreational vehicle; or on an optional rechargeable battery pack in areas without electricity — such as the beach or campsite.

zooM, new arrival to Yule scene

All-new and a fun gift for Christmas this year is color television with a remote control that introduces a ZOOM feature.

Just pressing a button on a special hand control that comes with the TV set provides the viewer with an instant close-up. The center two-thirds of the picture is enlarged, covering the entire screen.

As a result of special circuitry developed by Zenith, the ZOOM picture is as bright and colorful to the eye as the original.

Potpourri of festive holiday beauty gifts

FOR FESTIVE OCCASIONS you can fancy up your fringes with accessories. First use the Remington Super Brush to curl side hair under and flip bangs up off the face. Then slip a sprig of holly into a hairpin, or mistletoe if you're feeling flirtatious! Seductive black crepe and chiffon gown by Scott Barrie.

Fringe benefits for your new holiday hair style

The newest way to wear your hair, whether long or short, is fringed with bangs. Bangs are beautiful, they can flatteringly minimize a too short or too prominent forehead, they can shorten a long face, add breadth to a narrow one and even slenderize a full face while playing up your eyes.

Preview bangs

Which fringe is best for you? The Remington Hair Care people suggest an easy way to preview bangs. Sketch your face shape to size on a piece of paper, measure carefully to keep proportions accurate. "Try on" bangs by drawing the various bang shapes you're considering on your face shape with a pencil.

Here are some pointers:

1. Brushed to one side, bangs add height to a wide face.

2. You can make uneven features appear more centered by parting your hair on the side. Flip back bangs to make a soft, asymmetrical frame for your face. Your features will appear more balanced because they are not being "lined up" with a part or harsh hair line.

Cheek to cheek

3. To help "build" cheek bones, cut bangs highest over the bridge of the nose, slope them down toward the ear on either side. The "boomerang" bang frames the tops of your cheekbones. For further emphasis, highlight cheekbones, apply blusher just below them from the center of the cheek back to the earlobe.

Disguise the negative

4. Thick bangs that grow from the crown worn low on the forehead disguise a too low forehead.

5. If low set eyebrows make your eyes look small, a wispy fringe of bangs grown just over the brows will camouflage them and enlarge the appearance of the whole eye.

6. A small nose looks more shapely and interesting with straight across bangs.

7. If one eye seems smaller than the other, a side swept bang that partially obscures the larger looking eye will help bring the two into balance.

Lick a problem

8. Integrate cowlicks at the hairline into the bangs following their natural growth pattern.

9. If your hairline is uneven you can still wear your hair off your face attractively with the help of bangs. Choose either "curtain call" style with the hair draped back from either side of the part, or a flipped back fringe that comes forward on the face a bit to hide the hairline before it's curled back or off to the side.

10. Choose fluffy fringes to soften the harsh lines of eyeglasses. The most flattering fringes to wear with frames are tapered, pixied or flipped back or to one side.

Bangs are versatile, and that's half the fun of having them. With a little help from a Remington™ Super Brush™ Styler/Dryer you can change your look in an instant. The ideal all-round hair grooming appliance, Super Brush dries, flips, fluffs and styles, all at super speed and 850 watts of power can be set to suit your tempo.

Beyond the fringe

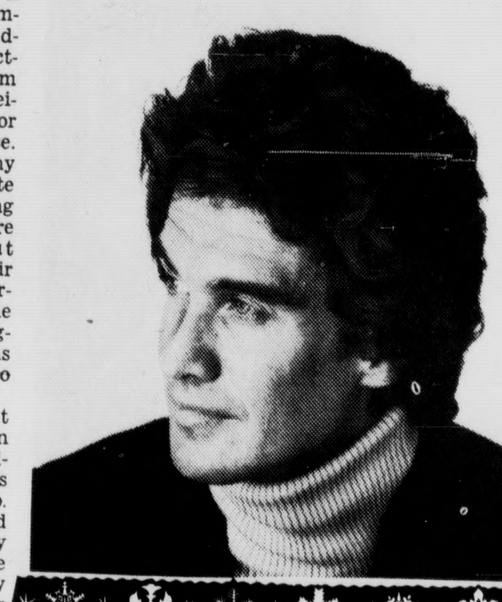
How you wave, curl and fluff your bangs depends on the hair quality you have. Style single-handed with the circular brush, a wide or narrow comb or the concentrator attachment. The Super Brush is useful far beyond the fringe. It's sturdy enough to handle the longest, thickest hair, yet versatile enough to assert gentle control over very fine and curly looks.

Very special gifts for men — salon hair styling and perm

The last person on many a holiday shopping list is often the man in the family — dad, brother, grandpa or a boyfriend. Selecting something for him poses a problem: He's either got everything, or he's very difficult to please.

A unique idea for any man is a gift certificate from the local hairstyling salon, as men today are very concerned about their appearance and their hair. According to haircare experts at Helene Curtis, many men now regularly visit styling salons or ladies' beauty salons to have their hair "done."

With a gift appointment at the local salon, a man receives professional guidance on how to wear his hair and care for it, too. If his locks lack body and control, the pro is likely to suggest a perm wave such as Body for Men by UniPerm to make the hair more manageable.



Refreshing beauty hints for those special days

Want to look your best for the busy holidays ahead? There are lots of little tricks to keep you at your loveliest, through the exciting and happily exhausting Christmas season.

For partying, after you've applied your most glamorous make-up, if you want it to last for hours, and look fresh, spray a fine mist of mineral water carefully over your face. Let it air dry and relax.

If you haven't any mineral water handy, use a small square of cotton saturated with ice water, squeezed almost dry, to pat over your make-up, gently. Be careful in the eye area or you'll smudge.

A feather-light dusting of talc or translucent face powder over your mascara, between coats, will add thickness and depth.

Planning what you will wear, well ahead of time, will save you many frantic moments, when pressed for time.

Try to find a few minutes through the day, just for you. Escape into your room between activities, and lie down with your feet on a pillow, higher than your head.

Think happy thoughts while relaxing. Twenty minutes like this and you're ready to go on, feeling refreshed.

Take a change of shoes with you when you're off on a long day. A real pick-me-up!

Have a merry!

Big gifts. Little gifts. To make their day!

Everybody will want to open this coffee maker

Ever think it will take until "after" Christmas to get your gift list in shape? What will you buy father and Uncle Ned this year. They've both got enough ties and shirts to last forever. Then there's Cousin Julie, mother, your sister and her kids . . .

This Christmas, instead of buying lots of little gifts, wrap up a big one for each important family. Make it something everyone will enjoy throughout the year.

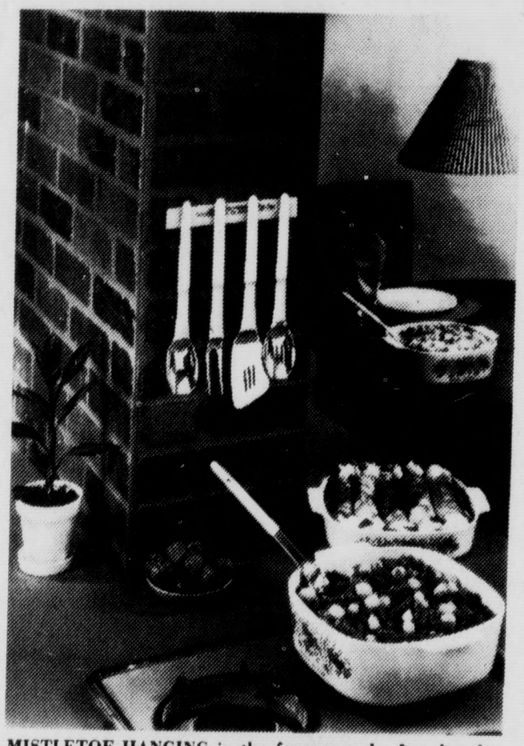
Think about putting a drip filter coffeemaker under the tree. The families on your VIP list will love it. Drips are easy to operate — so even a young adult can bring mom and dad coffee on Christmas morning. And they'll be welcome additions to the holiday entertainment scene, when guests drop in for coffee and dessert.

Norelco's 12 cup drip filter coffeemaker brews up 60 ounces in about eight minutes. The unit features a safety glass carafe and comes with 50 standard paper filters. Water temperature and brewing time are regulated to produce consistently good brews.

This coffeemaker is also fine for families who like to enjoy coffee all day long — especially during the chilly winter months. A warming plate keeps the brew at the right serving temperature.

Here's one Christmas present that combines good looks with function. It's styled in black with aluminum and gold trim and fits handsomely on any kitchen counter.

WRAP UP ONE BIG PRESENT for each VIP family on your gift list . . . and make it something everyone will enjoy. Norelco's 12-cup drip filter coffee maker will brew up lots of Christmas cheer as a welcome addition to the holiday entertainment scene.



MISTLETOE HANGING in the foyer may be fun, but for longtime pleasure there's nothing like a set of Les Utensiles from Imperial Knife hanging on the kitchen wall. This efficient and sleekly-styled set of cooking and serving accessories and handy decorated wall rack retails for $14.95, and would be a welcome Christmas gift.

Choosing a gift for the liberated man, woman

This Christmas it might be a good idea to reconsider the gifts you're contemplating giving in this age of liberation for both men and women.

Male and female roles are no longer so rigidly defined. Today many men enjoy whipping up a gourmet meal, while there are women happily wielding saws and electric drills around the house.

Appliances from blenders to coffee makers make particularly good gifts that are easy to operate for bachelors who are not very adept at domestic chores.

For the liberated ladies on your list who are single, why not select a gift that once might have been considered "for men only." A basic tool kit or fix-it book will probably be greeted with a hearty "right on!"

Tools for Mr. and Mrs. Fix-it

Hand tools in kit form will simplify the choice of gifts for the home or apartment handyperson. And each time a new project is completed, you'll be remembered as the one who helped make it possible.

Here are some types of kits to look for at your nearby hardware or home supply center. The Weller Mini-Shop, a compact 37-piece toolcase, has a 115-volt powered hand unit and attachments to sand, carve, sharpen or drill wood, metal or plastic.

Crescent has two plastic pouch kits, one with four sure-hold Cushion Grip handle screwdrivers, and a set of three chromium plated adjustable wrenches.

Files are a workbench essential, and Nicholson neatly packages four that can sharpen mower blades, enlarge a hole for a new door lock, smooth a wood or metal edge or surface.

A "piggyback" handle comes with ten Xcelite 3½" long screw and nut drivers in a stand-up plastic case. When the handle is slipped over the end of the handy shorties, they become regular-duty tools.

For the do-it-yourself-ers

Doubly delightful... attractive utensils

Anyone who enjoys cooking will appreciate a gift of Les Utensiles, Imperial Knife Company's beautifully styled set of cooking and serving accessories with handy decorated wall rack.

Designed for use with the country's most popular oven-to-table cookware, the quartet boasts striking new shapes smart enough to come to the table, functional enough to perform perfectly in the kitchen. They're a new size, too — large enough for cooking, small enough for serving.

And as a bonus, their good looks make a handsome showing when they're hung on a kitchen wall. Pressure-sensitive strips on the decorated rack simplify hanging.

Fashioned of mirror-polished stainless steel for easy care, the trim utensils have dishwasher-safe, stain-resistant white handle grips with a fine feel in hand, an attractive appearance at table. By fulfilling both the cooking and serving functions, the distinctive set saves storage space, cuts down dishwashing.

Appropriately packaged for gift-giving, Les Utensiles has a suggested retail price of $14.95.

There are all sorts of possibilities for Christmas gift-giving in Imperial Knife's new Contemporary Collection. For instance, Casualware color-enhanced stainless flatware will bring pleasure for many meals to come. And who wouldn't be pleased with a La Coutellerie cutlery set and a matching La Coutellerie steak knife set?

Shopping for a family gift?

With today's economy, shopping for Christmas gifts is a difficult proposition and buying separate gifts for each member of the family can wreck your budget. Once you decide on a "family" gift, your next problem is to find something each member will need and appreciate.

An ideal choice would be a Home Sentry™ smoke alarm . . . a gift that can help save the family's life in case of fire by providing those precious extra minutes needed to escape.

The Home Sentry smoke alarm, manufactured by General Electric, detects fire in its earliest stages, often before there is appreciable smoke, flame or heat — while there is still enough time to get the family out.

The smoke alarm continuously monitors air and when the smoke is present will sound a loud 85db alarm which continues to sound until the air is cleared.

The unit has built-in test features which let you check the entire system (not just the horn) by pressing a button. With the battery operated model, there are two low battery warning systems that provide further security. Installation is no problem . . . you mount the unit on the ceiling with two screws provided, and that's it.

Hopefully they'll never have to hear it sound the alarm, but the whole family will certainly feel more secure knowing that the Home Sentry smoke alarm is there helping to protect them.

HERE'S A GIFT the whole family will appreciate . . . The Home Sentry™ smoke alarm manufactured by General Electric . . . the early warning system that could help save their lives.
